The statement of the British treasury department followed the secret arrival of the two English bankers in New York late yesterday. Their names did not appear on the passenger list of the liner Caronia. Other steps taken to shield their identity led to a report that they had come to discuss inter-allied debts.

FAITH IN 1925 PROSPECTS BIG HELP

Big Five Packer Sees in Cattle Market Signs of Prosperity

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—"Everywhere there is an unmistakable atmosphere of faith in the future and assurance of prosperity for the coming year." That is the outline for business in 1925 made by F. W. Waddell, vice-president of Armour & Co., who based his statement on the packing industry as an excellent indicator of public buying and business conditions generally.

"It is not going to be the prosperity of the buoyant, up-shooting kind such as the nation felt in 1919," he added. "But the slow, steady prosperity without flares or spectacular rises in any department of industry. People generally do not seem so eager to buy luxuries as a few years ago. Rather they are spending their money largely for broader consumption of produced wealth and wider distribution of money."

Swine Situation

The swine situation is tending toward a more normal hog population. Government figures indicate 22 per cent fewer hogs were available for market in the last year than in 1923. That by no means forecasts a shortage. It merely forecasts a lessening of abnormal surpluses hard to dispose of profitably by either producer or packer. There is nothing like liquidation of swine in sight since the animals coming to market.

Labor, Road Chiefs Call Meet to Talk Over Wage Question

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—The Barkley-Howell railroad bill has been abandoned by Representative Barkley, Democrat of Kentucky, its sponsor, and will not be pressed before the House, it was learned this afternoon. Barkley said compromise legislation is being worked out in the Senate Interstate Commerce committee, which will prove more satisfactory. He will make announcement next Monday to the House of withdrawal of his bill.

The legislation did away with the existing railroad labor board and set up various local boards of railroad executives and workers, with an appeal board, to settle railroad labor disputes. A conference of union chiefs and railroad executives to work out new legislation for settlement of wage disputes is expected to be held here within the next three weeks.

FRANCE'S DEBT TO BE TAKEN UP DIRECT

Delegates to Inter-Allied Financial Conference Will Not Mix In

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service.

PARIS, Dec. 31.—France's debt to America will not be discussed at the inter-allied financial conference in Paris in January, but it will be taken up in Washington, Minister of Finance Clementel told American newspaper correspondents today.

"I cannot tell you now just how it will be taken up in Washington," M. Clementel said in answer to a question by International News Service. Prohibition in America and its high protective tariff both were made elements of Clementel's discussion, and both, he said, were handicapping France in paying off its debt to America.

Look to America

The big question now to be decided by both countries, Clementel declared, was just how the debt could be discharged.

"Payments to America are a question of method and transfer," said the finance minister.

Will Deal Direct

"The British government has fully agreed that France shall take up its American debt directly and independently with Washington," he added.

Clementel said he did not see how his reports to the Chamber of Deputies had come to be misunderstood in America.

Of the total of $65,150 issued during the day, permits totaling $25,000 were taken out by Mr. Groen and $12,000 by Mr. Michel, the records show.

New Official Is Presented At Luncheon Meeting Of Local Board

The members of the Glendale Realty board at the meeting held today noon voted to send a letter of thanks to The Glendale Evening News for the $50 check awarded the board for second place in the recent subscription contest. The motion was made by President William Twining and seconded by Peter Hanson.

John H. Klise, formerly associated with a large Chicago concern, and a resident of Glendale for the past year, has been appointed secretary of the Glendale Realty board to succeed Miss Winifred Traver, it was announced by President W. L. Twining at the meeting held today noon at the Egyptian Village. Mr. Klise takes up his new duties immediately.

The new secretary was introduced at the meeting, and made a short address. Prior to coming to Glendale he spent a year in Brazil, and had traveled for five years throughout the world. He formerly lived in the south. He stated that nowhere in all his travels has he ever seen a country that pleased him more than Southern California.

Vote of Thanks
Peter Hanson, past president of the board, offered a resolution and a rising vote of thanks to Miss Traver for her work during the two years she served as secretary. President Twining announced that the board decided the secretaryship should be filled by a man, and that the directors were perfectly satisfied with the work of Miss Traver during her reign.

While the investigation will deal chiefly with defeats in the legal machinery for enforcement of the Volstead act, Couzens said the committee also will inquire into notorious liquor scandals wherever the violations appear to involve irregularities on the part of government agents. The investigation, he added, was "welcomed" by both Internal Revenue Commissioner David M. Blair and Prohibition Director Haynes, who attended the committee meeting.

FAMOUS TEAM READY FOR NEW YEAR CONTEST

Fighting Irishmen Seem to Be In Good Shape For Grid Battle

PASADENA, Dec. 31.—In fine fettle and showing a superabundance of pep that would turn the heart of the most energetic "go-getter" salesman green with envy, Notre Dame's famous team reached here today from temporary training quarters in Tucson, Ariz., primed for tomorrow's tilt at the Rose bowl against the Stanford football squad.

Several hundred ardent supporters of the fighting Indiana Irishmen were at the station from near and far when Coach Rockne and his team of the gridiron detrained today and received the most ringing reception that has been seen or heard in these parts for many a year.

Squad Looks Good
If Rockne really means his oft-repeated statements that the Irish are not in the best of condition, his team today was the most deceptive looking of any to put in an appearance in Southern California within the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

Stanford's training practically came to an end with yesterday's workout when Coach Warner said the grid scheduled for today had been cancelled. The Cardinals will devote today to a little brain exercise on signals and kindred subjects, it was said. Stanford is ready—that is, as far as condition goes.

Cardinals Confident
Confidence is the keynote of the western camp, the majority of the players on the cardinal machine going so far as to predict they will hand the undefeated and untied South Bend aggregation the worst trimming ever given an invading outfit.

Ernie Nevers, "lone wolf" of the Stanford team and regarded as one of the greatest fullbacks developed on the coast in recent seasons, is to be entered in the New Year's game.

East Fails to Give West Team Proper Credit

By TOM THORPE
For International News Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Stanford may stop the Notre Dame "four horsemen" at Pasadena tomorrow. The Pacific Coast collegians have not been given credit for as much football as they know. The east has failed to understand that Harvard was the last team to make the trip across the continent for the Tournament of Roses and win.

Bob Fisher's lads won from Oregon in a memorable 7 to 6 battle. Since then every team that has traveled to the Pacific coast for the Pasadena game has lost. It would not be surprising if Notre Dame followed the general rule tomorrow.

Climatic Conditions
Many believe the trip across the continent has sapped the strength of the contestants. Such is not the case. The climatic conditions in California are not so far different from those that an eastern or middle western team would encounter in late October or early November.

So far as traveling is concerned, the Notre Dame team should be well accustomed to the road. No team in the country makes so many extensive trips to so many distant points as the players that perform for Knute Rockne.

Oil Magnate Petitions For Teapot Freedom

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—Harry F. Sinclair, the oil magnate, today asked the District of Columbia supreme court to reconsider its denial of a plea of abatement filed by him to the indictment charging conspiracy with ex-Secretary of the Interior Fall to defraud the government in the Teapot Dome lease. Decision was reserved.

Set yourself straight on these Bran facts!

If you eat bran it is because you seek relief from constipation and toxic poisoning!

To get the relief your physician will tell you that bran will give—you must be certain to get Kellogg's, BECAUSE it is ALL BRAN! That is the kind your physician intends you to eat.

You only delay positive relief when you eat foods with a partial bran content, because they can only help you in proportion to the amount of bran they contain! You haven't time to waste on 25 per cent or 50 per cent relief when you know that Kellogg's will give you 100 per cent relief BECAUSE IT IS ALL BRAN!

Every day's delay lets your condition become worse! Pills and cathartics can only aggravate distressing conditions. Part bran foods cannot permanently help you! They do not have the necessary bulk or roughage that makes ALL BRAN positive in its mechanical action! That is why Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a necessity!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is GUARANTEED to give you permanent relief if you will eat two tablespoonfuls each day, or as much with each meal in chronic cases!

If you would realize how delicious Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is—cooked, krumbled and ready to eat—and what it means to your health—you would not lose a minute starting to eat it! All grocers sell Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the Red and Green package.

BOSSSES STUDY THIRD PARTY PROSPECTS

November Vote Furnishes Food for Thought in Deciding Future

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—The politicians haven't finished studying the official figures of the presidential election just compiled and the chances are they will not finish for many months to come. For the final data present much food for thought and can not but have a significant effect on the plans of independents to form a permanent third party organization.

Notwithstanding the great popularity of Theodore Roosevelt, he did not in 1912 poll as many votes as did La Follette in 1924 but allowances must be made for the fact that women did not vote twelve years ago. The difference nevertheless, was only about 700,000 in favor of La Follette in spite of this La Follette received only thirteen electoral votes while Colonel Roosevelt received eighty-five. La Follette was third in the popular vote as well as in the electoral vote.

The most important inference is that an independent of the type of Roosevelt and an even more radical individual like Senator La Follette doesn't succeed in capturing a majority, but simply splits one of the two old parties. In 1912 the Democrats benefited by the Republican break. In 1924 the Republicans had the advantage of a split in the Democratic party.

Radicals Seem Hopeful
Mr. Wilson in 1912 was unable, however, to poll a majority of the popular votes, while Mr. Coolidge succeeded in rolling up a majority over both his opponents of more than 2,500,000 votes and of course, in the electoral college, had a substantial majority. Under the circumstances the problem of the progressive and independents is to find a way not only to combine the La Follette and Davis totals but to win back from the Republican ranks the millions of Democratic voters who strayed from the fold because of fear of the radicalism of La Follette or that the election would be thrown into the house of representatives for decision and that business would suffer because of the period of uncertainty.

To combine the La Follette and Davis totals, however, is easier said than done. The very reasons which drove conservative Democrats into the Republican ranks might serve to hold them there again if the Democrats simply nominated a La Follette type of candidate, and there is no telling how many more would have gone from the Democratic party if a conservative like John W. Davis had not been the nominee. Yet, if the conservative wing of the Democratic party doesn't do something to win the La Follette votes, the people who supported the La Follette party will not be won to either the Republican or Democratic nominees; but will stay in an independent group if a man of La Follette's prestige happens to be the candidate and a serious effort is made to maintain a third party.

Majority for Coolidge
The outstanding point about the figures is that the conservatives rule the political fortunes of the United States in this era. The Republican vote this year was 15,718,789 which represents conservatism.

The Democratic vote of 8,378,962 was in large part conservative too. The radicals had only 4,822,219 out of a total of 28,920,070 which is encouraging for the conservatives, to say the least.

The radicals, on the other hand, feel encouraged—or they say they do. They hope to win even more from the Democratic party next time and then turn the latter into a liberal organization, notwithstanding the opposition of the solid south. The south usually votes for the Democratic nominee, whether he is a radical or conservative, so, if the radicals are out to capture the machinery of the Democratic party, they can count on Democratic aid from the south for their nominee and the substantial requirement is to win the northern and western states.

Conservative Wanted
The conservative Democrats, especially those who control the party in Illinois, New York, Massachusetts and New Jersey would resist the La Follette invasion. The only hope of either the La Follette radical or Democratic conservatives would be a compromise on a candidate not so radical as the Wisconsin senators, but capable of holding his vote and not so conservative as John W. Davis.

Such a liberal might win back some of the Democratic votes from the Republican fold. The upshot of the whole thing is that the people of the United States reverse themselves often and there is a chance always for an opposition party to corral the discontented elements. Conservatism has a four year lease of life but the congressional elections two years hence will give the first indication of whether the country is going to turn over to the other side.

Nobody perhaps realizes better than does President Coolidge that the mandate of the last election was not a verdict for unrestrained conservatism but that his administration must be conducted with an idea of retaining the millions

G. A. Burt Remembered by Heir to British Throne for Christmas Greeting

At the time of the visit to the United States of the Prince of Wales a Los Angeles newspaper devoted considerable space to a conjecture as to who would be remembered in the United States this Christmas by His Royal Highness. Yesterday G. A. Burt of Glendale was surprised to find in his mail the following letter from the Prince of Wales.

"St. James Palace, S. W.—The private secretary is desired by the Prince of Wales to express His Royal Highness's thanks for your good wishes on the occasion of Christmas and New Year."

The letter was dated in London, December 12. Mr. Burt for several years was a Glendale newspaper man and now is manager of the Triangle Realty Co., 402 East Broadway, and was wounded three times in the world war. In 1914 Mr. Burt was in the trenches at St. Yves, Belgium, and received a Christmas letter and picture of herself from Princess Mary of England. He has been decorated seven times for bravery and while lying in different hospitals has received letters from the Prince of Wales.

NEW OFFICES CONSIDERED BY C. OF C.

Consideration Given Moving
Chamber to Building
On Lomita Corner

Possible removal in the location of executive offices of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce to the new double structure nearing completion at the northwest corner of Brand boulevard and Lomita street, will be determined upon by a committee including Harry G. MacBain and Dan Kelly, chamber directors. One room of the new building will be occupied by the local office of the Automobile Club of Southern California as soon as the building is finished.

The offer of the new storeroom for Chamber of Commerce quarters was made by W. B. Kelly, agent for the building, at a rental below that now being paid for offices on the second floor at 150 South Brand boulevard. Mr. Kelly and Secretary Howard L. Wood pointed out the advantages which would be gained by having main floor quarters, while Mr. Kelly particularly stressed the location in the same building with the Auto club. He declared that it would be strictly fitting and highly beneficial to Glendale to have two of its greatest information dispensing agencies housed under the same roof.

The room offered the Chamber at a rental of $120 a month for the first year and an increase of $10 per month after that, is 18 1/2 x 40 feet, well lighted by skylights and large front display windows and will be strictly modern.

Kelly Accepts Job
Mr. Kelly also accepted the appointment tendered him by the board as chairman of the Public Service corporations committee of the Chamber. He said he would suggest other members of this committee for approval of the board later and that he would strive to perform every possible service in his position as chairman.

R. E. Johnston also appeared before the meeting of the directors and announced his acceptance of the chairmanship of the civic committee. Mr. Johnston asked that the chairmen of civic committees of the different service clubs in Glendale and in addition the Glendale realty board, Merchants association and American Legion be made members of the committee with him.

A report on the football banquet to be tendered members of Glendale High school's three champion football teams was also given by Mr. Johnston who is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for this event. The regular meeting of the chamber of commerce directors will be moved ahead to 4:15 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon in order that all business may be disposed of in time for the directors.

Sees Future

CHARLES KING, actor and manager of a dramatic stock company, who predicts Los Feliz road to be a Great White Way.

Charles King, manager of the famous Charles King Players, whose great successes in Pasadena and Long Beach form an interesting page in the theatrical history of Southern California, was conferring with several Glendale men today.

Mr. King said he looked upon Glendale as more than merely Glendale; he viewed it as a natural spot for great development in the theatrical growth of Los Angeles.

"Los Feliz road," said Mr. King, "will really be nearer to Pershing Square than most of Los Angeles itself. The new transportation, with a running time from Los Angeles of some seventeen minutes, must inevitably bring great life to Glendale. And furthermore, where else can people find such magnificent parking space as upon your new Central avenue?"

When asked as to the truth of the report that the King Players might some day be seen upon Los Feliz road, Mr. King replied: "I have had a number of very flattering overtures made to me, but all such talk is premature. The present season of the Charles King Players in Long Beach has brought us a succession of crowded houses. 'The Ruined Lady' has really marked a high record in stock company runs. But there can be no question that Los Feliz road will inevitably be a Great White Way. The first modern theatre to open its doors there will find a tremendous clientele waiting. Glendale certainly has a wonderful strategic position, and I would be very happy to make a closer acquaintance with Glendale people."

FLORAL FLOAT FOR TOURNEY LAUNCHED

Glendale's Entry In Rose
Bowl Pageant Marvel
In Beauty Lines

Glendale's two floral entries in the Tournament of Roses pageant at Pasadena tomorrow will be completed by tonight and ready for the trip to the Crown City, where they will be in competition with 100 other floral-art creations from cities over Southern California. L. W. Chobe, world-famed Glendale float builder, this afternoon directed work of applying the finishing touches to Glendale's two magnificent entries, the Glendale city float, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, and the American Legion float to be entered in the legion division.

In an attempt to take first prize in the civic division for the fourth consecutive year, Mr. Chobe has spared no effort on the part of his creative genius, in building a float unsurpassed in rare splendor and beauty in the history of the Pasadena pageant. Glendale's entry will be thirty-seven feet in length and fourteen feet wide. The greatest height will be fifteen feet.

The float is a mass of fluffy white clouds, shaded here and there by pale pink and blue. Through the clouds may be seen the purple peaks of several mountains. Flying gracefully above the rolling clouds are three gorgeous butterflies. High above the other two is a huge butterfly of royal purple, shading into lavender and blue and touched with gold. This largest butterfly typifies Glendale, "the fastest growing city in America." The other two butterflies represent Pasadena and Los Angeles, sister cities of Glendale.

"Fifty Years Hence"
"The Pasadena Rose Tournament committee suggested that all floats this year carry out the fundamental idea of 'fifty years hence.' Things that we know today, airplanes, radio and the like will be antique within fifty years," the purple peaks of the mountains. Flying gracefully above the rolling clouds are three gorgeous butterflies. High above the other two is a huge butterfly of royal purple, shading into lavender and blue and touched with gold. This largest butterfly typifies Glendale, "the fastest growing city in America." The other two butterflies represent Pasadena and Los Angeles, sister cities of Glendale.

Under the supervision of Mr. Chobe, members of Glendale Legion post, completed the decoration of their entry this afternoon. The legion float will symbolize a battlefield in France with a towering pedestal in the background. Atop the pedestal will be emblazoned the national emblem of the legion. Draped from it and falling in graceful folds is a huge American flag worked in flowers. In the midst of the field of battle stands an American doughboy.

Annual Banquet

Rev. R. P. "Fighting Bob" Shuler excoriated Kid McCoy last night, before the Federated Church Brotherhood of Glendale, and deplored the decision of "manslaughter" returned by the jury.

The meeting was held in the auditorium of the Glendale Presbyterian church and followed the annual banquet of the organization, held in the dining hall. Over 550 members and their friends were served and a still larger number heard the speaking program.

The meeting was followed by acceptance of the report of the nominating committee, naming as officers for 1925 the following: David Black, president; J. Ray Bentley, first vice-president; Floyd Mercer, second vice-president; O. M. Newby, secretary; and George F. Daugherty, treasurer. The report was rendered by J. N. McGillis, secretary of the nominating committee, and accepted on behalf of the brotherhood by Frank C. Weller, president during 1924, who presided.

Rev. Shuler's challenging address followed delivery by Don Tyler of his $3500 championship oration on the American constitution. Tyler, who won out over 1,200,000 high school students who entered at the start of the great contest, was a pupil at Franklin High school, Los Angeles, at the time. He is now a first year student at Occidental college. The address he gave last night was the one he delivered some months ago.

SUBWAY EXIT SUGGESTED FOR CITY

Glendale Wants Underground
Unloading Point In Los Angeles

A subway station somewhere along Figueroa street in the vicinity of First street, Los Angeles, that will afford a boarding and unloading point for Glendale Pacific Electric trains, once the new tube between Glendale avenue and the Hill street station is in operation, is being advocated and may be sponsored by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce. W. E. Evans, Glendale attorney, appeared before the board of directors of the chamber last night in regard to the proposed subway station.

Mr. Evans told the directors he had recently been appointed on a committee by the Jonathan club of Los Angeles to urge the station project. He requested that the Glendale chamber make known its attitude in the matter. A committee including William L. Truitt and Howard I. Wood was appointed to investigate farther and report at the next session of the board.

Mr. Evans also discussed informally with the board the lowering of the Pacific Electric tracks on Brand boulevard. He said the street car company was strictly opposed to taking any action unless forced to through condemnation proceedings, that a decision of the supreme court of California set forth plainly the rights of municipalities in this regard and that there is no doubt but that the company could be forced to lower the tracks through condemnation.

PREPARING FOR PEACE

President Coolidge has won the commendation of the people of the country for his stand against entering into competition with other nations in building up a great navy, at the same time favoring maintaining the ratio of naval strength provided for at the Washington disarmament conference.

Organizations and individuals have made public statements in which they picture Japan as feverishly building warships to make war on the United States. In the opinion of the president, such alarms have caused competitive armament programs in the past and the competition of nations in preparing for war is what has caused most of the wars. If the United States were to enter into competition with Japan in building warships the president thinks it more than likely that war between Japan and the United States would result. Yet President Coolidge favors an adequate defense program and all loyal citizens will agree with him in this.

In a recent address the president said: "It is our wish to live in a world which shall be at peace. But we can no more assure permanent and stable peace without co-operation among the nations than we could assure victory in war without allies among them." It is well known that Coolidge is opposed to the supposed that the president refers to further conferences on United States entering into the League of Nations, so it is disarmament when he speaks of co-operation among the nations.

The time has not yet come when the United States can safely scrap all war material without reference to what other nations are doing. On the other hand, it is absolutely absurd that over three-fourths of all the expenditures of the government for the year ending June 30, 1924, went to pay for wars, either past or prospective. Two and a half billion dollars out of a total expenditure of three and a half billion was charged up against war.

It is only natural that the Secretary of the Navy and the Secretary of the Army should wish to build up a big fighting machine. That is their business. But what the people want is an adequate defense, that and no more. And there will always be a difference of opinion as to what constitutes an adequate defense.

The powerful nations of the world, conferring and co-operating to limit armaments, can, if they are all sincere, do away with war.

LET OPTIMISM PREVAIL

If there is one thing that can render a community "deader than a doornail" it is pessimism. Robert Louis Stevenson said, "A happy man in a room is better than a five-pound note," and the same is true of a city or a community. Optimism breeds prosperity just as truly as pessimism kills it. The power of thought is not to be overestimated. We have been told time and again, and we know it is true, that financial panics are the result of pessimistic thoughts.

If pessimism can bring about hard times, then optimism should and does have the opposite effect. If there ever was a time for optimism in Glendale it is now. There is absolutely no excuse for the pessimistic note. We are on the threshold of the greatest and most prosperous year in our history, both materially and spiritually. No one can stop Glendale, although the pessimist can hinder the city in its progress.

No doubt things will come up in 1925 on which we will not all agree. Such a condition will prevail in every other town and city, but that is no reason for pessimism. Our personal ideas and opinions amount to so little, after all. In community life the good of the whole is the only thing to be considered. The only thing for us in Glendale to do is to greet the New Year with optimism. Any other state of mind is rank ingratitude to the Almighty, who has willed that "the lines should fall unto us in such pleasant places."

ASHAMED OF THE JOB

A keen observer of human nature rises to remark that one of the most frequent causes of failure in any work is being ashamed of the job. Any man ashamed of his work will not rise in it or rise above it. The lowliest work is honorable and respectable if it is well done and if it is the best job to be had. Of course if there is a possibility of getting something better and one has not the ambition to make the effort to obtain the better job, then he should be ashamed of himself—but not ashamed of his work.

The idea that a "white collar" job is more respectable than the work of a mechanic has long since passed. Many men love mechanical work and consequently do it well, and they are right in being proud of their work. They deserve better pay than those who labor less strenuously.

Dissatisfaction with employment, if it leads to something better, is a splendid thing. But being ashamed of one's work will only cause the worker to do his work poorly and decrease his efficiency.

WOMEN READ THE BOOKS

It is the women who are buying and reading the books, and their preference is for books written by women. This is the conclusion that has been reached in the tabulation of the best selling books for the year ending December 1, 1924, compiled by publishers and book sellers. Publishers say they have learned that it is to women they must make their appeal.

In the non-fiction list the six best sellers the past year were: Dr. Lulu Peters' "Diet and Health," Fannie Farmer's "Boston Cooking School Cook Book," Emily Post's "Etiquette," "Ariel—the Life of Shelley," George Bernard Shaw's "Saint Joan," and Papini's "Life of Christ."

Heading the list in fiction were Edna Ferber's "So Big" and "The Little French Girl," by Anne Douglas Sedgwick.

No, Nora, eating June peas has nothing to do with the formation of pods under one's eyes.

THE SHADOW OF THE HAWK

Being Pleasant

By DR. FRANK CRANE

There are few who realize that the greatest contribution we can make to the world is being pleasant. For all the other work we do, others can be found who can do it quite as well.

There is talk of our need of leadership and of our efficiency in business and in other directions of activity. These may be necessary in a way, but they are nothing to compare with our duty of being pleasant.

Pleasantness is like the sunshine. Under its influence all good human qualities develop; and an unpleasant person is like a rainy day, rainy and cold. He is what Dickens would have called a "demmed, moist, unpleasant body."

A pleasant person improves the atmosphere of a street car. He helps people while away the time in a railway station. He is an encouragement to workers and he is the best means of recreation for those who would play.

If we do not feel pleasure it is our duty to put on an appearance of it, for it is the appearance that counts with others, and putting on a thing may often have a reactionary effect upon ourselves. By deliberately seeming to be pleasant we come to feel so.

Just as plants need the sunshine, and will only grow spindling in the dark, so human beings need an atmosphere of cheer. It has been noticed in the family that a pleasant person is more appreciated and usually more effective, than those who are glum.

The best adornment of the face is a smile and cheerfulness goes further than beauty. Indeed cheerfulness is one of the chief elements of an attractive face.

The world is hungry for cheer. Everybody wants it. You cannot sell gloom, for every person finds in himself sufficient causes for gloom without getting it from another.

By CLARK KINNARD

A man with a loud laugh makes truth itself seem folly.

There is no thing wickeder than a woman of evil temper.

To die and to lose one's life is much the same thing.

Many a shabby coat makes a fine horse.

The familiar proverbs that make up today's installment of this series of presentations of maxims of the various people, are, of course, Irish:

A hut is a palace to a poor man.

Great minds live apart; people may meet, but mountains and rocks never.

An Irishman carries his heart in his hand.

The only time England can use an Irishman is when he emigrates to the United States and votes for Free Trade.

We live as long as we're let.

The beginning of a ship is a board, or a kiln, or stone, or a king's reign salutation, and the beginning of health is sleep.

Praise youth and it will advance to success.

Wherever there are women there's talking, and wherever there are geese there's cackling.

Everyone lays a burden on the willing horse.

A secret is a weapon and a friend.

It is difficult to soothe the proud.

The shoemaker's wife an' the smith's mare a'en goes bare-fitted.

It is the hope of recompense that ruins the card-player.

If you buy a bad thing you will soon buy again.

It's no secret that's known to three.

A good horseman is the man on the ground.

A sword, a spade and a thought should never be allowed to rust.

A good laugh and a long sleep, the best cures in the doctor's book.

There never was a scabby sheep in a flock that didn't like to have a comrade.

Good humour comes from the kitchen.

Winter comes fast on the lazy.

Today's Poem

I LAY IN SORROW, DEEP DISTRESSED

I lay in sorrow, deep distress'd;
My grief a proud man heard;
His looks were cold, he gave me gold.

But not a kindly word.
My sorrow pass'd—I paid him back

The gold he gave to me;
Then stood erect and spoke my thanks.

And bless'd his charity.

I lay in want, in grief and pain;
A poor man pass'd my way;
He bound my head, he gave me bread.

He watch'd me night and day,
How shall I pay him back again?
For all he did to me?

Oh, gold is great, but greater far
Is heavenly Sympathy!

Hattam & Black, sub-contractors for the Broadway Construction company of Los Angeles, started work today on a new store and apartment building near the corner of Louise and Broadway. It will cost $5200. This new building, Mrs. E. Glane's nearly finished building, and the proposed Maxwell garage, will tend to make Broadway a busy place for the next few months.

A review of building permits issued in Glendale during the past two years is a revelation to those who have not kept in touch with progress of the city. During the years 1913 and 1914 building amounted to $1,114,976. Horsemen—For Sale, a fine rubber-tired, two seated trap, latest style, 520 Orange Grove avenue.

DEFECTIVE EYESIGHT
Defective eyesight of pupils in public schools of this country cost the taxpayers $130,000,000 every year because the little ones require longer time to complete their courses, says the eyesight conservation council of America.

Nearly 600,000 dozen of eggs laid in this country were sent to the United Kingdom within the subjects of Capricorn usually have supreme gifts.

CHICKEN FARM

Incubators on a southern chicken ranch have a capacity of 15,000 eggs and it is not unusual for 10,000 chicks to peck their way into the world in a day's time.

Puzzle

HOW TO SOLVE PUZZLE

The words start in the numbered squares and run either across or down. Only one letter is placed in each white square. If the proper words are found, each combination of letters in the white squares will form words. The key to the puzzle—the first word—is given in the drawing. Below are keys to the other words.

(Running Across)

Word 1. He's in the drawing above.

Word 5. Name of an automobile made in Detroit.

(Running Down)

Word 2. A country in Asia controlled by Great Britain.

Word 3. It is much like an axe, and is used to trim off the surface of wood.

Word 4. A barnyard fowl.

Horoscope

This last day of the year is read as doubtful by astrologers who find that Uranus dominates it in malefic aspect, while Saturn is adverse.

It is a day in which the mind may be easily overclouded with somber thoughts and for this reason it will be well to seek cheerful friends and entertaining recreations.

In the early morning hours the Moon is parallel to Uranus and this may be a disturbing influence that affects the sub-conscious mind.

All the vibrations of today's planetary government probably will tend toward longings for change and there may be an inclination to plan a new year in which old traditions are cast aside.

Warning is given that the change in world ideals of morality will be more evident in 1925 than in any previous year since the war.

Marriage will become more and more a trial contract that is readily broken and divorcees will multiply as never before.

Under this rule of the stars the vibrations tend to carry both men and women far away from Puritan standards of living.

While the pendulum of morals will swing even farther away from American standards there is to be a healthful reaction toward sane living.

Unfortunately, the planets give no promise of the enforcement of prohibition or the stamping out of the narcotic evil; on the other hand insanity and mental obliquity will become more prevalent than formerly.

Although the world is not to become suddenly better in 1925 many changes for good will be evident and the next twelve months will be marked by supreme achievements in art and science.

Thrift and reduction of taxes are to be topics discussed constantly in the new year and it will be wise to be among the first to realize economic hazards.

Beauty is to be a watchword that will have a far reaching effect in the coming months.

Persons whose birth date it is should keep their business affairs well in hand for they may have an unsettled year. These subjects of Capricorn will have no medium experiences, but will attain either great success or experience extreme failure.

Children born on this day probably will be excessively fond of travel and change. These sub-

XMAS SALES SET RECORD IN CITY

Glendale Merchants' Trade Over Holidays Helped By Slogan

Sales records established during the Christmas season of 1923 were broken by many Glendale merchandising establishments during the holidays, due mainly to the stimulating effect of the "Try Glendale First" campaign of the Chamber of Commerce. This was the declaration today of Dan Kelly, chamber director, who is chairman of the "Try Glendale First" committee.

Many Glendale business houses bettered their 1923 records for number and amount of sales during the recent holiday season. Mr. Kelly declared, although it was anticipated business would not be as good as last year by a wide margin. The surprisingly large amount of business was in great measure due to the "Try Glendale First" campaign, in his estimation. The series of quarter-page advertisements carried in conjunction with the campaign have created much interest in other cities and among chambers of commerce and merchants' associations elsewhere. A full file of the ad sales will be placed upon a large placard and photographed, according to present plans. A copy of the photo will be hung in the Chamber of Commerce office.

to attend the football banquet at 6:30 o'clock.

After "Fakirs" The Glendale Chamber of Commerce will seek the aid and cooperation of the better business bureau of the Los Angeles Ad club in combating a campaign of asserted false advertising being carried on by a real estate subdivision firm now engaged in selling lots in a tract near Louise and Du Bain streets. That the tract is not inside the city limits, that the city property adjoining it is for use as a reservoir site and not a public park and that city officials have not bought large blocks of the land were the assertions of directors of the chamber. Such false statements have been made by salesmen of the company, it was alleged.

It was also brought out during the discussions that the Glendale chamber frowns on advertisements which tend to create an unsatisfactory impression. The ad of an insurance agent who declares in his displays that thousands of criminals are coming to Southern California and that now is the time to insure against theft, was particularly cited. No such influx of criminals has ever been recorded in fact, it was pointed out.

The annual audit of the Chamber of Commerce financial records was completed yesterday and the report of the auditor read at the meeting last night by Secretary Howard I. Wood.

REPUBLICANS TALK OVER FUTURE

Glendale Represented When Central Committee Gets Together

By GIL A. COWAN

Glendale was well represented yesterday afternoon at a luncheon given under the auspices of the Republican County Central committee at Hotel Clark, Los Angeles, to which political leaders, state legislators and newspaper men were invited with a view to promoting co-operation at the coming session of the California legislature.

Among those present were Assemblyman Frank C. Weller representing the Sixty-first district; John Robert White, former representative; Attorney W. E. Evans, Republican lawyer, and A. T. Cowan, publisher of The Glendale Evening News.

Ralph Arnold, chairman of the county committee, presided and told of the harbor, Colorado river, highway and school problems, while in the course of the talks by others the oil, film, agricultural industries were mentioned as needing the understanding and co-operation of the lawmakers.

Mayor S. C. Evans of Riverside predicted that the southland would become as highly populated as Holland and Belgium, provided water for irrigation and domestic use was obtained. He is a director of the Boulder Dam association and Assemblyman Finney of Imperial county spoke along similar lines.

Movies Represented Louis B. Mayer, newly named Republican committeeman, speaking for the motion picture industry, labeled it as the greatest advertisement for the southland and the only industry which brings in so much and takes so little away. He announced plans for bringing factories to this section to make the raw film which now is made almost exclusively in Rochester, N. Y.

Senator Ralph Swing of San Bernardino struck a popular chord when he emphatically declared the only bills he now intended to vote for were those which would repeal some of the unnecessary laws, pointing to the mounting costs of doing business. He also stated that the cost of introducing foolish bills—proposals which stand no chance of being adopted—amounted to about $75,000 at the last session.

C. C. Teague of Los Angeles and Ventura counties, well-known fruit man, asked for careful consideration on the part of the senators when agricultural legislation is brought before them. Mrs. Florence Collins Porter made a plea for safe and sane laws, adding: "I hope you senators and assemblymen will not be pestered too much by women lobbyists."

Others Heard From Dr. Edgar O. Campbell of Goleta, Santa Barbara county, declared himself in favor of a greater Southern Branch University of California, revealing crowded conditions in the southland's institutions of higher learning. San Joaquin valley's desires for highways were told by C. Foster, assemblyman from Fowler, Fresno county. A harbor for Santa Barbara, an airport for Bakersfield were among other ambitious things revealed by the speakers.

Reapportionment was lightly dwelt upon by one or two, it being an issue which only the co-operation of the better business bureau in the opinion of the leaders. Efficiency and economy, much mooted subject of normal schools, and the gasoline tax did not get the air in what might be called a "love feast," more of which was desired by those in attendance.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, Dec. 31.—The city clerk has addressed letters to the county and state road departments, at the request of the City Trustee, requesting that a joint meeting be held in Burbank shortly after the first of the year, for the purpose of trying to work out a plan by which the state, county and city can co-operate in the improvement of Burbank's section of San Fernando boulevard. The request includes the suggestion that money for this purpose be appropriated from the gasoline tax, as this highway is used to a larger extent by state and county traffic than by the citizens of Burbank.

Mrs. L. P. Wilson, mother of Mrs. J. H. Barnum, recently at the age of 36, had her first view of the Pacific ocean. It was from the palisades of Santa Monica that she enjoyed the experience, while on a holiday motor ride.

L. H. Boydston, assistant director of the Mulholland drive celebration last Saturday, is a resident of Burbank.

Melvin Short, of 544 Olive avenue is the winner of $50 cash donated by the Burbank branch of a chain grocery system. Ben Letchy and family of San Fernando have moved to Peoria street. Mr. Letchy will assist Mr. Nutsch on the road work in this vicinity.

William Laraby of Universal City and Jack Laraby and son of Long Beach were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Laraby of Sheldon avenue, Stonehurst.

Charles H. Byrne of Los Angeles has been in the city visiting his old friend, W. A. North, whom he knew in New Mexico in times gone by.

The exhibition at Dresden, Germany, in 1925, will be devoted to housing problems, settlements and city buildings.

COMMENT BY GIL A. COWAN

"Economic imperialism" is the charge flung at America by the London Chronicle, according to an International News Service dispatch. According to the British viewpoint this nation has too much money power!

All of which goes to prove that a democracy is a very good form of government. And if England would only think for one moment that it is in second place because of democratic form of government the people would realize that the age of kings is over.

The Prince of Wales doesn't crave the crown, it would seem from his actions, but he does desire to be a hail fellow well met, perhaps the most protean and popular of all princely people. Restrained of office irks the Albert Edward.

Restraint irks all thinking people. After the day's work is done they like to "cut loose." Witness tonight's New Year's carnival and see most respected citizens parading around and acting like children. Some folks will sit at home, go to bed early and start the New Year the same as any other day in the year. That is their privilege.

But the majority of people are going to join in the church watch night services, or attend parties, or joyfully dance the old year out and the New Year in. That is their pleasure.

The Glendale Evening News employees are celebrating New Year's eve by completing a great big paper for you to send friends in the east. Every one of the 10,000 copies should be sent to some friend or relative east of the Rocky mountains to refute the misstatements about this wonderful southwest.

Praises sung of the southland yesterday by representatives of eleven counties at a legislative love feast of the Republican County Central committee proves that all REAL Californians are interested in the welfare of ALL Californians.

When Los Angeles invites the world to come west it doesn't care whether they invest in the two hundred block on South Broadway where the Chamber of Commerce is located, or whether they buy a ranch in San Joaquin valley, or develop a mine in Shasta county. Anything they do in California, or the Pacific states, for that matter, builds up the trade territory of Los Angeles and San Francisco and Fresno.

When Glendale sends forth its story of wonderful progress the boasting spirit, it is hoped, will cause other communities like Monrovia and Beverly Hills to strive for greater things.

'Fighting Bob' Shuler Slaps McCoy Verdict

back, before President Calvin Coolidge in Washington, with the judges of the supreme court of the United States as the judging body.

Powerful Address "I am 94 years old," said Rev. Shuler. "By the almanac I am 44 years old, and I was reared in a country fifty years behind the times!"

Throughout his powerful address the noted evangelist ran a strain of genial humor, and at times his eloquence so gripped the audience that a pin might have been heard to drop in the auditorium. He declared America to be the best country the sun ever shone on. "And if everything isn't exactly right, why we want it fixed by Americans."

His thought was that the country is in peril, that we realize something is wrong but are all willing to "let George do it." Kid McCoy he used as an illustration of certain evils that flourish today.

"McCoy has insulted America, insulted our homes, the institution of marriage, law, order and decency—and yet the jury brings in a verdict of manslaughter. In England they would hang him. The tragedy is that we Americans sit calm and serene in the face of a decision like that."

Judge Scott Speaks "What we need is a great revival of Christianity," he declared later in his address. "If we are Christians we must be ready to roll up our sleeves and fight for it. I believe in peace, democracy and the League of Nations but I am no pacifist. America will never be saved until Christians come to the front and fight."

"We've lost our sense of sin, that's the trouble. We no longer think anything is evil. We think there's a path leading all the way around hell. Everybody's trying to get by. This is the running ulcer on the nation's soul. We have forgotten that 'the wages of sin is death.' The only remedy is the Christian viewpoint."

Judge Robert Scott of the Los Angeles superior court spoke briefly, telling of the great chasm that lies between the Christian and the non-Christian. He pictured some of the pitiful wrecks of human life that filter into his court, and declared it is the privilege of the Christians united in the Federated Church Brotherhood to work together for their motto: "A clean city, kept clean."

Professor W. A. Howe, first president of the brotherhood, was in the audience. Rev. Clifford A. Cole, of the Christian church, said grace before the banquet; Mrs. Eva Kertz Christ rendered a piano solo; H. W. Carter led in community singing, and the benediction was said by Dr. Lincoln Ferris, of the First Methodist church.

Airplane service has been extended so that passengers may now travel by air from Switzerland to Amsterdam, Holland.

HUNT LETTERS THREATENING ATTORNEY

Brother of Bomb Victim Aids In Search for Sender Of Death Package

"I'll get you, I'll keep you from practicing the kind of law you do on innocent people, and I don't like your method of trying cases."

These and similar other threats were contained in two letters mailed to Ernest M. Torchia, Christmas package bomb victim, by the person he suspects is guilty of the outrage. Although the letters in question and to which Torchia referred in a startling interview on Monday, have not been located as yet, Joseph A. Torchia, brother and law partner of the bomb victim, told investigators of their contents, concurring in the belief that the sender of the letters was also the sender of the infernal machine.

An important fact disclosed by Joseph Torchia is that the handwriting in the threatening letters was small and resembled to some extent that of a woman. This description tallies with that of the writing on the wrapper of the bomb package, authorities said. The name of the person who wrote the letters is known to the sheriff's office having been mentioned by Torchia in his first interview on Monday.

Letters Not Found A search of the letter files in the Torchia law office in Los Angeles failed to disclose the threatening communications. Joseph Torchia told Captain William Bright of the homicide squad that he was certain the letters could be found, however. The brother continued his search today.

According to information turned over to Captain Bright, the two letters were received only a short time apart and followed on the heels of a lawsuit which had been won by Torchia. In winning the suit, the lawyer incurred the enmity of one of the principals on the opposing side, it was said. The first of the letters was about a page and a half in length, the second was somewhat shorter.

Two developments in the Torchia case took place in Glendale yesterday. Postoffice Inspector Here visited the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital and interviewed Torchia. He learned no new angles, however, he said. A second Glendale development was investigation by postal authorities working on the theory that the bomb might have been mailed from here. Torchia continues to improve, according to hospital reports.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Dec. 31.—This community is much interested in the development of plans for the new boulevard from Needles, Ariz., to Los Angeles, known locally as the "San Bernardino-Santa Monica boulevard."

WHO'LL BE THE LUCKY NEW YEAR'S BABY?

Somewhere up in the heavens today the stork is sailing about endeavoring to select the first baby to be delivered in Glendale in 1925. As soon as the old bird makes his choice, the little tot will be tucked snugly in a big basket lined with soft, silky blankets and borne upon his wings to its new home.

Upon arriving in Glendale, the first baby of 1925 will receive a rousing welcome, not only from the happy parents, but the merchants of Glendale as well. The merchants of Glendale believe in babies. And to prove they are sincere in their welcome to the little one they are offering a grist of valuable presents to be given to the first 1925 baby of Glendale.

RULES ARE SIMPLE

Prospective parents will find it worth while to acquaint themselves with the rules and regulations of the stork race and look over the valuable list of gifts offered to the first new baby to arrive in Glendale in 1925.

The rules are simple. No restriction is made as to nationality or color. In case of twins, the one born first will be considered the 1925 baby and the winner of the prizes. The contest is open to all. The only restriction is that the parents must have been bona fide residents of Glendale for at least six months prior to January 1, 1925.

ASK CERTIFIED COPY

The baby's father or some accredited representative of the family must make personal application to A. T. Cowan, publisher of The Glendale Evening News, and establish the babe's right to the prizes. A certified copy of the baby's birth certificate showing the exact time and place of birth must be produced. There may be more than one baby born at the same time, it is pointed out, and parents are advised to record, if possible, the exact minute the little tot arrives.

Fortune will smile broadly upon Glendale's first baby born in 1925.

The 1925 Baby will be presented with an Esmond Baby Blanket with our compliments.

The Wrath To Come

By E. PHILLIPS OFFENHEIM, Copyright 1924

CHAPTER VIII

Arriving in the sitting room of the hotel he took up his pile of letters and sorted them through. One by one he passed them by. He had commenced his task with a sinking heart. He finished it with a curious admixture of feeling. There was no letter from Gertrude. He rang up the Ambassadors. They had received no news of any projected visit from the Princess. He felt himself face to face with a new situation. The problems with which he had expected to be confronted seemed to have melted away. Yet to him there was something ominous and disconcerting in this state of negation, something which seemed like the corollary of his own threatened failure in the larger enterprise which he had embraced. He was not an abnormally temperamental person but a fit of black depression suddenly swept over him. The thought of Susan, her sweet, girlish charm, her ingenious appeal, rugged at his heart strings with swift and passionate little bursts of memory. He cursed himself for the hesitation which had kept him that last night at the Villa, when they had stood alone upon the balcony, and the chance had been his, from taking her into his arms. That one kiss which he had craved from her would have clad him in the armour of a gigantic selfishness towards every other claim or appeal. She had been right. The difference between their ages was a trifling matter, something to be reckoned with if she had been a simpering schoolgirl of her years, but for Susan—with her understanding, her insight, her delightful womanliness—a thing not worthy of consideration. What was she thinking of him now he wondered. There had been a certain guardedness in the Press but the story of Gertrude's flight had blazed along the Riviera, the more ardently believed in because of the mystery surrounding it. Lord Yeovil's letters, kindly still and even friendly, betrayed signs of it. There was no mention of Susan or any message from her, a certain restraint in dealing in any way with personal topics. Grant moved restlessly to the window. Although it was his own city, the loneliness of a stranger in New York seemed to have enveloped him in a cloud of deepening depression. The magnitude, the sombre magnificence of it all, the towering buildings, the height from which he looked down at the streets like illuminated belts, the like of distant lights upon the river, the dull roar of ever proceeding traffic, seemed almost terrifying. A city honeycombed with people, moving on at the hand of destiny; a contemplation for the philosopher, an invitation towards lunacy to the lonely individual. Grant momentarily lost his courage. He seemed cut off from his friends, the destroyer of his own happiness. The sight of a familiar face, the sound of a cheery voice at that moment, would have been a joy to him. He answered almost eagerly the knocking at his door. A man entered, a man with the two things for which he had felt himself craving—a smile and a cheery face—but the last person in the world whom he was expecting to receive a visit.

"Blunt!" he exclaimed. The newcomer laughed cheerfully as he deposited his silk hat and Malacca cane upon the table and withdrew his evening gloves. "Well, well," he said, "I thought we might meet over here. I'm not offering to shake hands although I'd be very glad to. I've brought you a chat, though, and when I chat, I like to be comfortable. May I have an easy chair, a whisky and White Rock, and a cigar? I have just left the opera, and I am a little exhausted with the wonder of it. Your new prima donna is marvellous."

Grant rang for the waiter. "What on earth have you come to see me about, Blunt?" he asked. "My dear fellow, what a question!" the other replied, looking round the room and finally selecting his chair. "Enemies always visit one another. It lends spice to combat. Now the one of us with the keener brain will leave this interview the gainer. Which of us will it be, I wonder? A most interesting speculation. By the bye, might I suggest a little ice with the whisky and White Rock?"

Grant gave the order. He was in the frame of mind to welcome the presence of even Mr. Blunt. "After your magnificent banquet in Monte Carlo on my last evening there," he observed, "I think that you are making very slight demands upon my hospitality." "I shall make larger ones upon your patience, perhaps," Blunt declared. "You're not looking

THE GATEWAY

Usually motion picture interiors are erected from a photographic standpoint; and in many cases look stiff and unlivable. A certain hominess is lacking. In "My Man," which will be shown at Gateway Theatre on Wednesday, Director David Smith made a strenuous effort to have interiors present the appearance of having been "lived in."

Interiors were selected in actual homes; and then great care taken to photograph the rooms from many angles; measurements were taken and a list of furnishings made. In every instance the surroundings in which people have lived and loved were duplicated in the studio.

Considerable curiosity was aroused throughout Los Angeles and Pasadena by the visits of the technical and art department; but in every instance, whether in the home of the eastern millionaire, the mechanic or the store employee, they met with interested co-operation.

The interiors on the production are reproductions of actual homes. Every cozy nook has been duplicated in construction and furnishings. Drapes and hangings have been copied or rented outright. Pictures and portraits to which sentiment is attached have been borrowed. The result has removed much artificiality from screen technique and makes the picture far more realistic than usual. The usual Wednesday feature of selected vaudeville.

well, Mr. Slattery. This rushing around from one big city to another, these alarmist conclaves in Washington, do not agree with you so well as the sunshine of the Riviera."

"You seem pretty well informed as to my movements," "Naturally. We do not keep a large and expensive Secret Service going here for nothing. I could give you a most faithful record of your movements on every day since your arrival, starting with your visit to Washington, do not agree with you so well as the sunshine of the Riviera."

Grant gave the order. He was in the frame of mind to welcome the presence of even Mr. Blunt. "After your magnificent banquet in Monte Carlo on my last evening there," he observed, "I think that you are making very slight demands upon my hospitality." "I shall make larger ones upon your patience, perhaps," Blunt declared. "You're not looking

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"I Love You" opens tonight for its second week at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre, the curtain rising at 8:15 o'clock. William Le Baron, the author, has chosen for his theme the question: "Does propriety cause love?" He tells the story of a wealthy young man, weary of the conventional, who horrifies his guests with the statement that there is no such thing as real love, and makes a wager with one of them that under the right environment any two people can be made to fall in love. In the working out of the scheme is a series of convulsing situations.

As Jimmie Farnsworth, Joseph McManus, the feature player, gives the finest kind of a performance, looks the part of the gentlemanly aristocrat in portraits, and keeps the right tempo until the final curtain. His scene with Louise is a scream. William H. Stephens as Brooks, the butler, whose encyclopaedic mind is a source of bewilderment to the others, is a treat. Mary Isabelle Alpaugh as Ruth, Jimmie's fiancée, whose thoughts of love are far different from Jimmie's, helps to keep the audience in a merry mood.

THE GLENDALE

"Grit," featuring Glenn Hunter, opens today at the Glendale Theatre.

THE T. D. & L.

"The Silent Accuser," produced by Chester M. Franklin, opens today at the T. D. & L. Theatre.

Mr. Blunt prepared his highball with care, lit his cigar and leaned back in his chair. "I am thankful," he confessed, "that prohibition in this country was before my time. It did some good, they tell me. Swept away the saloons and kept the alcoholic strength of spirits down. On the whole, however, it must have been very uncomfortable."

"The statute was modified almost out of existence before I took an interest in such things," Blunt remarked. "Blunt was silent for a moment or two. He had completely the air of a man steeped in the atmosphere of the music he has enjoyed and dropping in for some slight refreshment with a friend. "Mr. Slattery," he said, a little abruptly, "one of the objects of my visit is to congratulate you upon your failure."

Uncle Wiggily

UNCLE WIGGILY'S NEW YEAR'S

"For goodness sake! You aren't going out again, are you?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, as she saw Uncle Wiggily putting on his hat and coat in the hollow stump bungalow after lunch one day. "Why, you were out all the morning, and now—"

"Now I am going out again," laughed the bunny. "Asking your pardon for interrupting you, Nurse Jane. I'm going out again, but I'll never go out again all this year."

"What do you mean—not go out again all this year?" asked Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "Because this is the last day of the year," answered the bunny with a laugh. "When I come home this evening, after I go adventuring now, I shall stay home until morning. And when it is morning it will be another year—a new year—1925, instead of 1924."

"Oh, I see what you mean," laughed Nurse Jane. "I had forgotten about the new year. I'm glad you spoke of it. I must make a New Year's cake. We shall be having many friends call on us tomorrow."

"And that reminds me—I am going to make some calls myself this afternoon," said the bunny, with a jolly pinkle of his twink nose.

"Well, don't call on any of the bad chaps—that's all I ask," said Nurse Jane, as she went out in the kitchen to make the New Year's cake. Uncle Wiggily hopped over the fields and through the woods for his last adventure of the year. "Why not call on some of the bad chaps?" thought Uncle Wiggily to himself. "I didn't intend to, but as Nurse Jane spoke of it I might as well. I'll go boldly to the homes of the Fox, the Wolf and Bob Cat. I'll ring their bells. They'll be so surprised to see me that they won't think of nibbling my ears. I'll wish them a Happy New Year and ask them to make good resolutions not to bother me any more."

No sooner said than done! Uncle Wiggily hopped along until he reached the burrow of the Fox, and knocked, there being no bell.

"Hello!" barked the Fox, opening the door and he was so surprised at seeing that rabbit that he could only look at him. "Hello!" answered the bunny. "I wish you a very Happy New Year, Mr. Fox, and I hope you'll make a good resolution not to bother me next year. Good-bye!" Down off the steps, before the surprised Fox could make a grab for him, leaped the bunny. Away he hopped over the fields.

"Well, of all the funny things," barked the Fox. "Why didn't I nibble his ears while I had the chance? I'll wait until he comes back."

But Uncle Wiggily didn't go back to the burrow of the Fox. Instead he hopped to the den of the Woolly Wolf.

"Hello! Happy New Year! I hope you'll be a better Wolf next year!" cried Uncle Wiggily with a jolly laugh, and away he hopped before the surprised Wolf could so much as stretch out a toenail to hold him.

"Well, of all the funny things!" murmured the Wolf as the bunny skipped over the fields. "I should have nibbled him. But I'll wait until he comes back!" However, the bunny didn't come back, but went on to the house of the Bob Cat, where he did the same thing. "Happy New Year! Happy New Year!" cried the bunny to the chap with a silly little tail. "I hope you'll be better next year!" And away he ran before the Bob Cat could catch his breath.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny uncle as he safely reached his bungalow. "The old year is ending happily for me. I hope the new year will be just as glad!"

Anyhow, I wish all the boys and girls a very happy 1925, and I hope, next year, they may read some more stories about my adventures!"

And if the spoon holder doesn't put lemons in the orange pie and make the sugar bowl turn sour, I'll tell you another story, soon, about Uncle Wiggily.

RADIO LOOKED TO FURNISH AIR FUEL

Flyers See Time When Fuel Will Be Sent Planes By Broadcast

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924
WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—While President Coolidge and some of the other higher government officials are worrying about a possible depletion of the national oil supply, young engineering minds of the navy are looking forward to the time when the not distant future when their aircraft will be entirely independent of gasoline or any other volatile fuel. The navy is looking for the development of radio to reach such a degree that eventually it will be possible to send power to a craft by way of the ether waves. Navy men do not regard this as an idle dream. Already radio waves have been employed in the guidance of distant vessels and aircraft. The problem of bringing the waves to the height and power of supplying motive force to aircraft is a matter of multiplication of units and perfecting means of application.

May Solve Difficulties
Radio power may solve many of the present day difficulties of air navigation. It may put an end to motor failures. These failures have been the sources of the great majority of air disasters. An electric motor, or a series of motors, drawing their power direct from the air by means of an antenna or aerial trolley, might prove a far more dependable than the internal combustion engine with its multitude of moving parts, its temperamental carburetors and its erratic spark plugs.

Cleophas Family Host To Visiting Pianist
Gordon Hampson, pianist, assisting Miss Eva Gauthier in her concert, was dinner guest last night at the Cleophas home, 337 North Central avenue. Mr. Hampson was studying piano in Vienna with Leschinsky at the same time as Miss Gertrude Cleophas. His visit to Glendale happens at time when Miss Gauthier will appear in concert next Tuesday night before the Glendale Music club. Members of the Cleophas family heard her program Monday night in the Philharmonic auditorium in Los Angeles.

Hoiseh Millinery Store Now at New Location
Mesdames Noble and Steege, who have conducted the Hoiseh millinery at 209 East Broadway, announce that on Friday they will be in their new location at 110 North Maryland avenue and that they will no longer handle millinery, but will work in hemstitching, pleating and buttons.

To Avert the Frequent Drouths that destroy cereal crops of Arizona, a huge irrigation project will be completed in 1925.

Faith in Future Has Prosperity Markings

market have been pigs for the most part. "Storage stocks of pork are not up to the five-year average. Trade channels have been kept wide open and there seems no possibility of a glut in the market the coming year. Farmers who feed judiciously should be in a position to operate profitably in hogs despite the high cost of feed, especially if a good corn crop is realized in 1925.

"Prices for beef cattle are not very encouraging for the producer. The predominant demand is for beef from light yearling animals, whereas the great bulk of the supply is from less choice grades. It is now apparent that the corn belt fed out about 25 per cent fewer cattle this season than last. Liquidation in the cattle market is virtually over just as it is in the swine market.

Supplies in Sight
"There are no surpluses in sight and if the market discloses relatively small supplies, cattle prices are quite likely to take a vigorous rise.

"Sheep raisers are in a better condition than producers of hogs and cattle. So great has been demand for wool that ewes have risen considerably in value and lambs have reflected that rise. And forecast pertaining to the live stock industry may be echoed to a great degree as a prophecy for the packing industry also."

Pacific coast cattlemen will start 1925 under vastly improved conditions over 1924, when drought caused a shortage of feed and pasture. Pasture again is now and the four and mouth disease, which cost growers 50,000 range cattle, has been eradicated. About a million head of range cattle are now on hand in California or about 25 per cent below normal.

The sheep industry is more profitable in Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Nevada and Utah than for many years. There has been a liberal gain in the number of sheep held in the Pacific northwest and demand for wool has made it almost impossible to purchase old wethers. The cattle situation is improving and in Texas the supply of cattle is smaller than ever known before.

New settlers have pushed the cowboys back from range land. Cattlemen therefore expect better prices and many of them believe 1925 will pull them back on their feet again.

RUM RUNNER SHOT DEAD BY RAIDERS

Wealthy Yachtsman Held In $35,000 Liquor Cache Taken at Beach

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 31.—One rum runner was killed in a battle today with prohibition officers at Newport Beach, near here, a prominent yachtsman arrested and $35,000 worth of bonded liquor, two automobiles and the schooner "Niger" were taken.

The unidentified rum runner was shot to death when he leaped from the schooner and attempted to swim ashore after federal agents swarmed aboard the craft. The body sank and was not recovered.

Shortly before dawn, the "Niger" boy" hove to just outside the line of surf near Newport Beach and started lighting the cargo of spirits to the shore. Officers said they watched the operations the smugglers for a considerable time before commanding their surrender.

A volley of shots from the rum runners met the demand of the agents, and a hot battle between the two forces lasted for several minutes.

The smugglers fled, but after the fighting federal men found Cecil Sherman, prominent California yachtsman, near a liquor cache and arrested him, according to their report.

CHICAGO AWAITS KLAN DRY RAIDS

Ku Klux Openly States Intention to Clean Up Chicago

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—Possibilities of Ku Klux Klan raids on cabarets and clubs where anti-Vesetarian parties may be under way here loomed today as Chicago prepared to give its riotous welcome to the infant year.

The Klan's intention of cleaning up Chicago, ridding the city of vice and booze has been announced openly. Only the zero hour, when the horde of raiders will be loosed by the Invisible Empire in all parts of the city, remains a secret, and it was plainly intimated today that New Year's eve, traditional time for liquid cheer, would be considered the appropriate hour for striking.

New Secretary Chosen For Glendale Realtors

the destruction of large tracts of trees for commercial purposes. Mr. Casselman suggested that persons desiring to have Christmas trees get growing trees from nurseries and replant them. When President Twining asked how many members of the board would pledge themselves not to use cut trees next Christmas, every member of the board present rose.

Mrs. M. L. Tight brought up the subject of trees being cut along Sherman way and asked some action be taken. The matter was referred to the reforestation committee. It was voted to take up the Christmas tree matter with other realty boards of the state at the convention to be held in Fresno.

Breaks Record
H. C. Vandewater, building superintendent, announced the building permits for 1924 had surpassed last year's total by $53,017 at noon. W. C. Waring spoke on signs being stolen from vacant lots and President Twining instructed the sign committee to investigate and report next week. E. P. Hayward recommended a committee on ethics be appointed. J. D. Casselman reported sixty members of the board enrolled for the educational course to start January 8.

President Twining, Peter Hanson, James Rhoades, Elmer Ingledue and Charles Guthrie will attend the state convention at Fresno on Saturday, it was announced. Mrs. Tight described the Glendale float to be entered in the Tournament of Roses tomorrow, also the Legion float. Each member present made a New Year's resolution which was read by President Twining.

TROTSKY POWER NOW CRUMBLING

Rumors of Great Activity In Military Circles Also Fly Fast

LONDON, Dec. 31.—Rumors of the crumbling of Leon Trotsky's power and reports of great activity in Russian military circles have held to close studies of the military strength of the Soviet government by British military experts, and these studies have left a feeling of security. Russia has today probably the strongest army in Europe, in man power, but the efficiency of the army is questioned.

British experts have publicly stated that "Russia's army has a strength of 1,500,000 men, but that there is a tremendous reserve which is on a permanent call."

Later studies have shown that the strength of the military machine is constant fluctuating, but that there is a tremendous reserve which is on a permanent call.

The Soviet army consists of sixty-two divisions, with an official strength of 808 men for each division; but the actual strength of a division averages about 6000. Many divisions, for reasons of economy, are maintained on a reduced basis, and it is probable that there are now only twenty divisions of full strength, thirteen at reduced strength, and the remainder have been transferred into territorial militia.

Infantry Strength
Thus it seems that the infantry strength of the Soviet army can hardly be over 255,000. It is necessary to consider, however, that there are not less than 700,000 youths called to the colors every year, and service in the reserve divisions continues until the age of 40 has been attained. Under these conditions it would be easy to increase the infantry to a half million in a month and to a full million in two months.

The Russian cavalry consists of sixteen divisions, two of which are now largely "paper" divisions. There are probably 111 regiments of cavalry in service, with varying strength; but the total number of cavalrymen would probably not exceed 55,000. Another 50,000 are available, however, in the Cossack reserve force.

The field artillery in the Russian army is nominally 1344 guns, most of which are of ancient type, the most modern being pieces supplied to Russia by the British during the World War. The strength of these forces is about 100,000, including men serving with technical units, armored-car and tank corps.

Airforces Overdrawn
The reports concerning the Soviet air forces have undoubtedly been greatly overdrawn. Trotsky for the past three years has been stressing the necessity of a strong air force, and to some degree he has been successful, for new machines have been steadily acquired; but even so it is doubtful whether Russia could put more than 250 efficient fighting planes into action.

In methods of modern warfare the Soviet forces are believed to be behind the other nations of Europe. Trotsky has been reported as saying that American communists have supplied him with the formula of the strongest army produced in the United States, but this is doubted. The Russian gas mask is obsolete; but despite this Trotsky is said to have predicted that Russia's next war will be a gas war.

While the Soviets are inclined to be secretive concerning their military strength, it seems probable that Trotsky's statement concerning Russia's reduction in military forces should be given more weight than has been given them in incredulous circles.

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—"Yellow Kid" Well, handsomest and most impressive of the high class "con" men, whose earnings from financiers a good share of the country over have netted him millions, has retired for a time at least, "Pink Whiskers," titles and all. The Pink Whiskers vanished in a barbershop when he learned the police were on his trail. But despite the disguise, the police nabbed him and today he is bending his wits to the device of a plan to escape the clutches of the law.

The authorities estimating that "Yellow Kid" has gleaned a clear million in his last six months' operations—operations that put the funds of a Charles Ponzi or a Leo Koretz into the shade, where those "get-rich-quick" wizards stooped to dealings with "boobs" in ordinary walks of life, and offered something that at least looked tangible in return for funds. "Well," they say, "has associated only with the moneyed and has taken their valuables in return for appearance alone."

His latest accomplishments as "Mr. Bisbee" of "Bisbee & Co., financial advisers, have involved a number of the stock La Salle financiers. Chief of Police Collins understands. Working with Fred Buckminster, his associate in many past deals, Well has been the central figure of "Whiney and Endicott, Brokers," "Scott and Lawson, of Contractors" and "Hamburg and Grossman, silver mine owners."

Slickest of Slick
How he got away with it is something that only a look at the slickest of the slick "con" men can explain. The "Yellow Kid" has bearing. His late set of facial foliage would have backed J. Ham Lewis, or even Charles E. Hughes, out of any picture; he has a self attained education of the finest sort; he is large, commanding, important looking, even without the white hair, with a demeanor of superiority that makes even the mighty feel willing to truckle.

As the case demanded, the "Kid" has Dr. Joe R. Warrington, of Shanghai, Paris and Berlin, seeking funds to purchase valuable stock, and "Kid" has been able to get his command.

Later studies have shown that the strength of the military machine is constant fluctuating, but that there is a tremendous reserve which is on a permanent call.

His easy reference to dealings with such people as J. Pierpont Morgan, Sir Basil Zaharoff, international financier, Gustav Stresemann, former German Chancellor, and President Mander of France, quite overcame listeners, though they be most sophisticated in the ways of the silver tongue.

H. L. Kette, a wealthy manufacturer of Hamlin, Cal., was admitted victim of the "Yellow Kid" ways, conceals the qualities of the con man who took $37,000 of his money. The others are not even willing to admit their losses.

Prison Record
It was late in 1922 that Well was "bumped" from the Illinois state penitentiary at Joliet after serving a term for swindling. With Fred Buckminster, who was released with him, he avowed his intention to "go straight" and "to play the game square." Since that time his operations have been on a larger scale than ever, officials now are advised.

He has forged degrees from the University of Berlin, Jena, Heidelberg, the Sorbonne, in addition to honorary degrees from Harvard, and decorations supposed to have been conferred by the late Czar of Russia. He has a shelf of books, rebound from other authors, which he claims to have written. Articles about his wonderful accomplishments in the field of finance are found in the country's best magazines—inserted in his copies by his own ingenuity. Letters bearing the names of the leading men of the world, complete his assortment of credentials.

As a linguist, an authority on mining, geology, literature, art, almost anything, he is quite overwhelming. The result shows how effective is the guise, when those who have followed his antics, estimate that the latest dealings have netted him a cool million.

But they find that he now has liquidated on valuable property held here and has pulled in his resources, while he prepares for another court fight for his freedom.

MAP MAKER TALKS TO LUNCHEON CLUB

Glendale Expert Tells of Plans for Celebration Of Independence

J. T. Edwards, F. R. G. S., spoke before members of the Greater Glendale Luncheon club today at noon on the work being done at his studio here in Glendale and urging that all merchants and manufacturers cooperate to give this city greater advertising on the outside. Mr. Edwards said every one of the hundreds of thousands of visitors from all parts of the world who attend the 150th anniversary celebration of the signing of the Declaration of Independence at Philadelphia in 1926 will be given a small replica of the "butterfly map" of the world, which will be on exhibition, and which is now under construction in Glendale. Each souvenir map will bear the name of Glendale.

Mr. Edwards urged that every letter sent out from this city be mailed in an envelope bearing a description of Glendale and its wonders upon the back.

Short New Year talks were given by Harry G. MacBain, Frank L. Fox, D. H. Smith, George B. Karr, A. L. Ferguson and Howard L. Wood. The attendance figure, one thousand business cards, was won by Mr. Edwards. The attendance prize next week will be given to the person who will give the prize. Next week, meeting will be in honor of newly appointed chairman of standing committees of the Chamber of Commerce, George J. Lyons reported on the football banquet to be given in honor of Glendale high school football teams on Tuesday evening, January 6.
